

English Country Garden

^G How ^C many ^D kinds ^G of sweet flowers grow
^G In ^C an ^D English ^G country garden?
^G We'll ^C tell ^D you ^G now of some that we know
^G Those ^C we ^D miss ^G you'll surely pardon
^G Daffodils, ^D heart's-ease and flox
^G Meadowsweet and lady smocks
^G ^{Am} Gentian, ^D lupin and ^{D7} tall hollyhocks
^G ^C Roses, foxgloves, snowdrops,
^D ^G blue forget-me-nots
^G In ^C an ^G English ^D country garden

^G How ^C many ^D insects ^G come here and go
^G In ^C an ^D English ^G country garden?
^G We'll ^C tell ^D you ^G now of some that we know
^G Those ^C we ^D miss ^G you'll surely pardon
^G Fireflies, ^D moths, gnats and bees
^G Spiders ^D climbing in the trees
^G ^{Am} Butterflies ^D drift in the ^{D7} gentle breeze
^G ^C There are snakes, ants that sting
^D ^G And other creeping things
^G ^C In ^D an ^G English country garden

^G How ^C many ^D songbirds ^G fly to and fro
 In an English country garden?
^G We'll tell you now of some that we know
 Those we miss you'll surely pardon
^G House ^D sparrow, cuckoo and quail
^G Woodpecker and Pied Wagtail

^G Blackbird, ^{Am} lark, ^D thrush and ^{D7} nightingale
 There is joy in the spring
 When the birds begin to sing
^G In an English country garden

^G Robin ^C (Robin, ^D robin)
 Don't forget the robin (Don't forget the robin)
^G Robin ^C (Robin, ^D robin)
^D Don't forget the robin
 (Whistle.....FADE)

